Specialized Instructional Support Personnel Collection

Who are specialized instructional support personnel and what do they do?

Specialized Instructional Support Personnel (SISP) are specialists who provide services to support students so that they can access education and be successful in school.

What resources are available to practitioners in the collection?

A comprehensive collection of materials and resources to assist in your understanding of who specialized instructional support personnel are and what they do including:

Power Point Presentation with Presenter’s Guide – The presentation is designed to introduce specialized instructional support personnel and their services and spark interest in further reading and discussion. A separate Presenter’s Guide with content, notes, and suggested activities is included for the Power Point presentation.

Glossary - Key terms and acronyms associated with specialized instructional support personnel and the services they provide.

Dialogue Guides - Models for conducting interactive discussions on regarding specialized instructional support personnel, the roles they fulfill, and the services they provide.

Grounding Assumptions - Current beliefs and dispositions regarding the roles and services provided by specialized instructional support personnel.

Resources List - Contains information that has been found to be helpful; contains only websites that can be accessed at no cost.

The collection is available at www.ideapartnership.org

How can this collection support our work in schools?

These resources have been developed and/or selected by practitioners and other stakeholders concerned with providing services to children and youth. They provide tools and training materials for immediate use as well as links to websites that will continually produce high quality information.

Working together to support our partners in the field...