Transcript #4: Resource Guides

Slide 1

Partnership resource guides are annotated lists with relevant and up to date information on the topic addressed in a particular collection.

Slide 2

Created by groups of cross-stakeholders who have reviewed websites and other materials these resource guides focus on quality websites that provide reliable information. Some resource guides also include relevant articles and books.

Slide 3

In this collection on Autism Spectrum Disorders you will notice a listing of annotated websites,

Slide 4

articles that can be accessed on the web, and

Slide 5

journal articles that require a library search.

Slide 6

Partnership resource guides can be accessed online and may be printed for dissemination. These guides can be of assistance as you are doing research on your own or exploring a topic with others. In printed format, they are useful to share within a training situation to encourage further exploration.

Slide 7

Whenever and however you are using the resource guides, we encourage you to let us know your reaction to use and ideas for improvement by clicking on Your Voice in that particular collection and sharing with us.